Continuation of 3. NOTE: The applicant argue that with the state of amended claim 1, neither Foody and Katchabaw discloses or suggests or renders obvious the instrumentation client API limitation. As addressed in the final action, the API by Festor is brought in for providing the rationale for obviousness. The arguments here do not seem to address the above limitation in light of the combination of 3 references but contends with dissecting 2 references taken individually. The arguments about the client API is not persuasive and has been addressed in the previous office Action. Besides, with amended claim 1 having a more specific scope change in conjunction with claim 9 being now extended with a limitation that would require further consideration, along with non-persuasive argument ignoring Festor as the 3rd reference as mentioned above, the claims amount to either added matter that are yet to be reconsidered; not providing sufficient ground for allowance; or would not simplify Apeal Brief material; hence, will not be entered for all those reasons.
